Use of Local Workforce Policy

The use of 'local labor' will be a factor in evaluating this application. Answers to the following questions will assist us in that evaluation.

'Local labor' for the purpose of this application is defined as residents from Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Lewis and Oswego Counties. If a 'labor workforce plan' has been designed, please include that plan as an addendum to this application. Questions below are applicable for both a construction project and for the operations of a sustaining project.

Please check which best describes your project scope:

() Construction Project () Long-term Operations Project (X) Both

1. How will the project developer seek out and use the local workforce. (If your workforce is already 'local' by definition, please explain)

2. What is your total expected workforce during the construction phase of the project? What percentage of those are expected to be local? What is the total expected workforce during the operations phase of the project? What percentage of these do you estimate will be local:

Total construction workforce _____
 Percentage of total construction workforce will be 'local' _____
 Total workforce once project is in 'operation' _____
 Percentage of the total 'operational' workforce will be local _____

3. What specific approaches are to be used in your efforts to identify local workforce candidates if additional project workers are necessary?

4. If additional contractors or subcontractors are to be hired, will you request their use of local labor? If so, give examples of how that request is to be made.

The Agency acknowledges that the extensive use of local labor is not always possible. Are there circumstances such as those used in the examples below that will affect the percentage of local labor for your project?

1. Is there is a warrantee issue involved.
2. The work is so highly specialized that local labor cannot be found.
3. You identified a significant cost differential when using local labor.
4. No local labor is available.

It is the intention of JCIDA to randomly verify the use of the local workforce, using whatever method it determines is most effective. This verification may occur throughout the term of any incentive programs or loans granted.

History and Successes of the

Watertown Center for Business and Industry

800 Starbuck Avenue, Watertown, New York

Managed by the Watertown Industrial Center Local Development Corporation

In 1994, a two-day planning session was held to discuss whether or not it was feasible, and more importantly in the best interest of the community and region, for the public to take ownership of these former industrial buildings of the New York Air Brake, with a goal of repurposing them in order to stir regional economic development.

After two days of brainstorming and discussions relating to structural, environmental, legal, and market capabilities for the reuse of these buildings, it was concluded that redevelopment of the site was not only feasible, but a desirable objective. It was apparent that only an aggressive, and single focused redevelopment plan would suffice to create a successful multi-tenant facility offering manufacturing, office and warehousing space.

In June of 1994, the Watertown Industrial Center Local Development Corporation (WICLDC) was created specifically to redevelop, and repurpose these former industrial buildings into a vibrant incubator facility. Today, that incubator facility is known as the Watertown Center for Business and Industry (WCBI).

The Board of Directors for the WICLDC is comprised with six of the seven founding members:

Jefferson County Industrial Development Agency

Watertown Local Development Corporation

County of Jefferson

City of Watertown

New York Air Brake

Development Authority of the North Country

Each organization is represented with a voting member on the board.

The decision to take ownership and redevelop these 4 buildings into incubator flex space has been the foundation for economic development here in Jefferson County, but more importantly for the entire region. The WCBI became, and continues to be one of the greatest success stories for our community. The phased-in approach of redevelopment and upgrading the facility, and the financial commitments made by the founding members during the first 5 years of its life laid the foundation for what today is a successful incubator facility.

Fast-forward 20 years and the WCBI, now managed by the WICLDC, has outperformed even the greatest of expectations. There have been several startup business that began at the WCBI, expanded at the WCBI, and then outgrew their space to the point of having to construct a new building to meet their needs--all while employing people from the local work force. One example is Current Applications. The company, which produces custom motors for a wide range of applications and has customers throughout the world, began at the WCBI in 2000 with only 6 employees. They soon moved into a new 20,000 square foot facility at the City Center Industrial Park where they recently added another 10,000 square feet and now employ 50 people. Other Jefferson County companies who got their start at the WCBI before expanding off-site include:

Henderson Manufacturing, in the Jefferson County Corporate Park

Structural Associates, located in the Jefferson County Corporate Park

Stephen Allocco Kitchen and Bath, Built his own shop

Onsite Testing Services, Currently located in Brownville.

Belle Technologies,

Watertown Local Development Corporation

Shred-Con, Located in Watertown.

Pine Camp Contracting, Located in Watertown

Experimental Studios, Now Five Cedars, Located in Theresa NY

Current tenants who got their start at the WCBI and remain here as viable local businesses include All Ski Lifts and Watertown Vending.

The WCBI's flexibility has also enabled companies to start small, and grow onsite as their business needs change.

Servpro of Jefferson County is a great example of a company starting small, and expanding their workforce and space as their business grew, and the WCBI was able to meet their space needs, while working with them to keep their overhead down. In 2008, Servpro made the decision to move the business from their original home to the WCBI. In order to meet their facility needs the WICLDC approved a Leasehold Improvement Loan in the amount of $56,900 to renovate space in Building B. The space before renovations is almost indescribable now, but after the renovation it became the perfect shop and office for any small business. Servpro entered into a 10-year agreement and had approximately 4 employees.

In 2011, it was apparent that Servpro was quickly outgrowing their space. With the uncertainty at the time with roof repairs the WICLDC renovated a 2,000 Sq.ft. space located in Building A, and formerly leased to Shredcon, to include a corporate office and a much larger shop area for Servpro. Giving the investment made by Servpro in Building B, their business, and their workforce, the WICLDC undertook this renovation and at no additional expense to the tenant. The space was perfect for their needs; however, Servpro continued to grow, their workforce continued to grow, and their facility needs grew to the point of again outgrowing the space they occupied.

In 2014, the WICLDC completed renovations on a 5,400 Sq.ft. space in Building A, which included new offices, new electrical and water/sewer infrastructure. This was no small project; but was necessary to meet the needs of the tenant. Servpro accepted a new 10 year lease, they increased their original Leasehold Improvement Loan to include the new renovations, and they currently have 8 employees. Servpro is a great example as to how the WCBI, through the management of the WICLDC, is able to meet the challenges of a growing business.

Every successful incubator needs anchor tenants to help cover the everyday uncertainties that come when leasing space, the WCBI is blessed to have the following anchor tenants in the facility:

Brookfield Renewable Power

Converse Laboratories

Jain Irrigation

Watertown Vending

Black Horse Group

Jefferson County Local Development Corporation

These tenants have made substantial investments in their workforce, and their leased area. They have made it possible for the WICLDC to make it through tough financial times, all while continuing to offer lease rates, and services designed around the needs of the tenant, and not the other way around.

Currently the WCBI has 21 tenants, and 110,904 Sq.ft under lease. These 21 tenants employ 187 people at the WCBI complex. Over the years, the WCBI facility averages 20 tenants, and 170 employees at any one time. Below is the current tenant list:

All-Star Contractors

Brookfield Renewable Power

Colonial Insurance

All Ski Lifts

ServPro of Jefferson County

Ampersand NY Operations

New York Airbrake

Black Horse Group

Jain Irrigation

Converse Laboratories

Jefferson County LDC

Upstate Construction

Watertown Vending

W.B. Mason

Watertown Model Rail Road Club	Modern Moving and Storage
Watertown Airsoft	Sweet Occasions
NYTRIC Electrical Contractors	Pick N Go Waste Services

As we recall successful stories of how the facility has evolved over the years (and believe me there are many, many, examples that could be used), one image will always stand out. In 1996 one could stand in the middle of Building A, which is approximately 900 feet long, and look from one end of the building to the other, there were 4 tenants at the time. Today, that would not be possible, as Building A has 10 tenants and has gone through extensive interior renovations.

The WICLDC has invested greatly into the WCBI complex, in the last 5 years it has replaced the roof on Building A, B, and the center section of C with a 30 year insulated EPDM roof system. This project also required the installation of new windows, siding, gutters, and HVAC equipment. The cost of this investment was approximately $2,000,000. In this past year, the WICLDC renovated approximately 4,400 Sq.ft of vacant industrial space and turned it into prime office space. The WICLDC is now considering constructing a new Building to replace one that is beyond the time when a simple renovation will suffice. This type of investment demonstrates the commitment the WICLDC has to the community in helping foster job creation, retention, and economic development.

While the WICLDC has invested in the WCBI over the years, these investments have been done so with limited resources. We have borrowed funds where we can, received grants where applicable, and have utilized our cash reserves; however, it is costly to keep up a facility of its age and construction type. The WICLDC is also limited by the rents it can charge for the space available. Therefore, we generally operate on a break-even level, and additional cash received is placed into reserves for future repairs and maintenance. Within the next 12-18 months the WICLDC anticipates replacing windows, and completing the roof replacement on Building C.

In closing, it is fair to say that over the past 20 years the Watertown Industrial Center Local Development Corporation with the leadership of their Board of Directors, dedicated staff, and the community found a way to limit the burden on taxing jurisdictions while transforming these former industrial buildings constructed during the First World War I, into a successful business incubator. They prevented these buildings, and property from becoming a liability for the City of Watertown, and a blight on the community. The WCBI will continue to be a key economic development asset designed with the goal of bringing in new business, and offering existing businesses the ability to grow in a supportive environment tailored around their needs.

Sincerely,

Billy Soluri
